

Donna J. Hopkins

Over the years, Donna Hopkins keynotes reflect her passion and drive to help others. She is a people person, a visionary, a life-giver and a problem solver. She is driven, committed, passionate about helping others and inspired to impact the world with a heart to serve and a desire to do good in the world. She is known for her work and impact in the cancer community, she is a sports personality on Tony McGee Pro

Football Plus Television show in Washington DC, Founder/CEO of non-profit, Hopkins Breast Cancer Inc., a public speaker for breast cancer awareness programs, motivational and inspirational speaker, a two-time breast cancer survivor and an amputee. Donna doesn't just want to inspire her audience; she wants to make an impact in changing their lives and mindsets.

She is on a mission to share her triumphant journey and teach individuals how to reset and tap into the hidden strengths we all have, the passions and the purposes that drive us to not only win for ourselves but for others. Her goal is to share with them things they can apply in their lives, so that they can move past their obstacles, challenges and misfortunes.

Donna tells her story with humor, laughter and passion, and talks about her dedication to help others get through life's difficulties. She shares with her audience the key concepts she believes will help them reset their lives. She talks about the importance of Getting to the other side of Victory and gives her audience relatable and inspiring lessons that they can take away from her experiences to apply to their own life.

Her joy for life, understanding of life-challenges and experience with overcoming them, give her the ability to connect with people on a deeper level. She wants to spark individuals to reach deep inside of themselves and pull out what drives them and charges their soul.

SPEAKER

If you are looking for a dynamic, colorful, energetic, captivating and delightful, intuitive speaker, Donna Hopkins is the speaker for you!

For the last several years, I have been working on a project that will help others who might go through anything in life get to the other side of victory in reshaping, renewing and building on their futures. I began on this journey to reconnect with myself, a journey with stories of my passion, triumph and things closest to my heart. What I found left me grateful, inspired and with an attitude shift that encouraged me to move forward to maximizing endless possibilities and reawakening my desires. I want to assist you in getting there, too.

Whether it's for your personal, wellness or professional needs, I'm the kick-start that you need.

Motivating, coaching, team building, inspiring, supporting, and assisting in resetting individuals or teams!

Teaching individuals how to reset and tap into the hidden strengths we all have, the passions and the purposes that drive us to not only win for ourselves but for others.

Understanding that there is a process and a roadmap that unlock the treasures to the uniqueness in each of us and propel us to move forward despite our setbacks.

Transforming others through shifting the mindset and hitting the RESET button!
